

Nursing baby?

It's a heavy strain on mother.

Her system is called upon to supply nourishment for two.

Some form of nourishment that will be easily taken up by mother's system is needed.

Scott's Emulsion contains the greatest possible amount of nourishment in easily digested form.

Mother and baby are wonderfully helped by its use.

Headed for a Hornet's Nest.

Ida M. Tarbell's story of the tariff in The American Magazine grows more interesting and vital as it draws near the men and policies of the present day. No prophet is needed to point out the fact that the great historian of Standard Oil is headed straight for a hornet's nest. The rumormongers raised over Rockefeller are mild compared with the rumormongers when she really gets into the arduous task of General Hancock said, with wit and wisdom, "the tariff is a local affair." It is a subject upon which all men have ideas, and their ideas are governed by consideration of their pocket books.

In the April American Magazine Miss Tarbell tells the story of the tariff under Hayes and Garfield. In the course of the narrative she describes the Tariff Commission of 1892 which travelled all over the country collecting first hand information about the fairness of duties on various products. Although Miss Tarbell does not actually label the story as funny, it is funny—as funny as anything written in many a day. Everywhere the Commission went it was met by a great number of individuals with long solemn faces who proceeded to tell why this thing or that thing ought not to be on the free list—for the good of the country. It was a marvelous exhibition of human nature. Patriots bloomed everywhere. And nobody but the members of the Commission appreciated the humor of it at the time because nobody but the members of the Commission heard all the appeals. It was a chapter in our history which might well be called "The Self-Education of a Commission."

DOING BUSINESS AGAIN.

"When my friends thought I was about to take leave of this world, on account of indigestion, nervousness and general debility," writes A. A. Chisholm, Treadwell, N. Y., "and when it looked as if there was no hope left, I was persuaded to try Electric Bitters, and I rejoice to say that they are curing me. I am now doing business again as of old, and am still gaining daily." Best of all tonic medicines. Guaranteed by Crenshaw & Young druggist. 50c. 4-6ml

Why Hill Succeeded.

James J. Hill entered the railroad business in 1881 as general manager of the St. Paul & Pacific Railroad, and a clue to the reasons of his success may be found in the following from an article in the April Everybody's:

"He was baggage man, conductor, engineer, track-walker, fireman, passenger-agent, freight-agent, traffic-manager, and everything else on the road at different times," one of the men who was with him as assistant at this time told me.

"He looked after every detail, until those who watched him were appalled. Not a box of rubber bands was bought that he didn't O. K. the order and supervise payment. He not only learned how the work was being done, but devised methods of doing it differently, doing it better, more economically, more expeditiously. System followed in his walk, system in every department. Railroadings as he found it was an involved, cumbersome, chaotic affair. He made it a science."

BITTEN BY A SPIDER.

Through blood poisoning caused by a spider bite, John Washington of Bosqueville, Tex., would have lost his leg, which became a mass of running sores, had he not been persuaded to try Bucklen's Arnica Salve. He writes: "The first application relieved, and four boxes healed all the sores." 25c. Guaranteed at Crenshaw & Young druggist. 4-6ml

Lexington Boy to Come With Thyrsus.

Mr. D. A. Ruebel, who comes with Thyrsus, the Dramatic Club of Washington University, as Business Manager is too well known in Lexington to need an introduction. Mr. Ruebel graduated from the High School here in 1903 and in the following autumn entered the Collegiate Department of Washington University. His good work obtained for him a scholarship in that institution where, in addition to his regular work he has done a great deal in the line of dramatics and athletics, besides earning enough money to defray the bulk of his college expenses. Mr. Ruebel is also the author of a very clever farce, "Who's Who," which was staged by Thyrsus with great success. Besides being Business Manager of Thyrsus, he is manager of this year's track team and is one of the varsity half-milers. He is also associate editor of Student Life, the University weekly. Because of his excellent work as Rowley in the "School for Scandal," the annual play of last year, he was the similar part of Jarvis in "The Good-Natured Man"; but finding that he could not do full justice to his duties as Business Manager, he unselfishly gave up his place in the cast in order to devote his entire energies to the business end of the performance. The production at the Odeon at St. Louis and in the various towns on the schedule entails an expenditure of about twelve hundred dollars. Mr. Ruebel's many friends here are delighted to have the opportunity of seeing the Myrtle and Maroon aggregation and will turn out en masse. The play will be produced at The Odeon at St. Louis this evening.

"PNEUMONIA'S DEADLY WORK"

had so seriously affected my right lung," writes Mrs. Fannie Connor, of Rural Route 1, Georgetown, Tenn., "that I coughed continuously night and day and my neighbors' prediction—consumption—seemed inevitable, until my husband brought home a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, which in my case proved to be the only real cough cure and restorer of weak, sore lungs." When all other remedies utterly fail, you may still win in the battle against lung and throat troubles with New Discovery, the real remedy. Horse Fell in Well.

Odessa Ledger.
About four o'clock Monday evening Claude Tanner bitched his horse close to the well in Moore & Son's livery barn and went out to attend to some business on the street. Shortly after he left his horse, the horse got his hind feet on the cover of the well which broke through with him and he slipped down in the well. The well is very large and had about 8 feet of water in it, so the horse had to swim to keep his head out of the water. Someone heard his struggles and went to see what was the matter and found him. A crowd soon gathered and put ropes on him to keep him from drowning while he was drawn out. He was in the water about an hour and as a consequence was pretty cold and stiff when taken out but seemed to be all right every other way and Mr. Tanner was able to take him home.

Cleopatra's Hair Dye.
History has many instances of the blonde type. A learned Englishman has discovered in some ancient Egyptian writers on papyrus, that the beautiful Cleopatra had the fox red hair of all the Ptolemies, and resorted to dyes and cosmetics to keep up her reputation for good looks.
